SUMMARY

Merlin is one ventilator for all your small animal practice needs. It will prevent moving and paying for expensive compressed gas cylinders, as it works on a precisely controlled piston. It has two unique features: Firstly the ability to wean the patient off the gas to a more stable recovery. Secondly it is the only veterinary ventilator to calculate and display the compliance of the patient during IPPV. It comes at a competitive price and you could save an average of £1000 per year on oxygen bills according to the figures shown on the reverse side*.
